

Dallas Business Journal

Monday, June 2, 2008

Dallas City Guide

Top Picks of the Dallas Business Journal

Top Restaurants in Dallas

- III Forks
- Al Biernat's
- Stephan Pyles
- Del Frisco's Double Eagle Steak House
- Jaspers

III Forks 17776 Dallas Parkway Dallas, Texas 75287 972-267-1776

www.IIIforks.com

Average cost of a dinner and drinks: $55-$75

Texas French cuisine is served in a dining room heavy on elegance with a Texas twist of antlered chandeliers and rich wood paneled walls. With almost 25,000 square feet of dining, the restaurant touts one of the largest wine cellars in Texas with more than 8,000 bottles and 900 selections, and fine-dining options that include steaks, seafood and fish.

Al Biernat's 4217 Oak Lawn Ave. Dallas, Texas 75219 214-219-2201

www.albiernats.com

Average cost of a dinner and drinks: $50 - $75

The more than 650 wines on hand are reflected in the warm Mediterranean influenced interior. Situated on the edge of Dallas' affluent Highland Park, Al's clientele is a who's who of the city. The food, service and people-watching are stellar.

Stephan Pyles 1807 Ross Avenue, Suite 200 Dallas, Texas 75201 214-580-7000

www.stephanpyles.com

Average cost of a dinner and drinks: $75

Celebrity chef Stephan Pyles offers up his trademark new millennium Southwestern cuisine in downtown Dallas, with offerings such as roasted sea bass with chorizo and clams in verjus fumet and spring pea tendrils and romesco soup with blue corn-hazelnut crusted fried oyster and yellow pepper foam. Don't look for cacti motifs here, the eatery melds modern geometric shapes in metal and wood enhanced with regional elements.

Del Frisco's Double Eagle Steak House 5251 Spring Valley Road Dallas, Texas 75254 972-490-9000

www.delfriscos.com/dallas/

Average cost of a dinner and drinks: $55 - $75

Among this Dallas hot spot's signature culinary offers are USDA prime beef and Australian cold water lobster tail. Guests are seated in one of several dining rooms, each decorated in rich mahogany with lots of mirrors and artwork, accented with muted lighting. Also available - wine-cellar seating and entertainment lounges.

Jaspers 7161 Bishop Road, Suite G1 Plano, Texas 75024 469-229-9111

www.jaspers-restaurant.com

Average cost of a dinner and drinks: $55

Celebrity chef Kent Rathbun plies his homestyle cooking skills in a casual dining environment with a modern outdoor theme. For those wanting more traditional and private dining, there is a boardroom featuring frosted glass panels. Jaspers is a convenient drive north from downtown Dallas to the adjacent city of Plano.